I. Purpose:

Primary: To support the teaching and research requirements of Religion faculty and students at Clemson University.

Secondary: To provide a broad basic collection of informational material about major religions of the world.

Primary Users:

- religion minors
- students majoring in philosophy with a religious studies emphasis area
- students taking religion courses as electives
- religion faculty

Secondary Users:

- students or faculty involved in courses requiring information about religion
- students, faculty, staff, or community members seeking information about religion

II. General Collection Guidelines:

A. Languages:

English is the primary language of collection, with exceptions where appropriate.

B. Chronological Guidelines:

No restrictions. Materials may be purchased about religions of any time period, from the ancient world to the present.

C. Geographical Guidelines:

Emphasis is on the Middle East, western Europe, the United States, and Asia, though materials may be purchased on religions in any part of the world.

D. Types of Material Collected:

- Books: Monographs and edited books about specific subjects will be purchased, as well as biographies of significant figures, dictionaries and encyclopedias of religion, Biblical commentaries and concordances, new translations of Bibles and other sacred texts, and atlases. Books may be purchased in print or electronic format, depending on the type of book, the cost, the type of use expected, and the preference of users.
- Journals: Every effort will be made to preserve the current journal collection and to add new titles requested by faculty as funds allow. All journals will be purchased in electronic format if possible. Selection of new journals will be based on faculty requests.
- Indexes & Abstracts: Currently-held indexes and abstracts most relevant to research in religion:
  - online: ATLA Religion Database
Academic Search Premier
Web of Science (includes Arts and Humanities Citation Index)
Humanities International Index
Humanities & Social Sciences Index Retrospective, 1907-1984
ProQuest Dissertations & Theses
  - print: Old Testament Abstracts
New Testament Abstracts
  - Indexes and abstracts in philosophy, sociology, psychology, history, art, or music may also be relevant to specific questions; see policies in those subjects for holdings.
- DVDs are collected upon request.
- Excluded Materials:
  - Sectarian materials of an inflammatory or proselytizing nature or obviously denominational materials whose primary purpose is to present one sect as superior to another, unless they have historical or research value.
  - Works of pastoral theology (education/training of ministers or lay workers, preaching, homiletics, and practical church work), unless they have historical or research value.

- Inspirational or devotional literature, unless it has historical or research value.
- Works of ecclesiastical theology (church management, religious vocations, church finance, religious education and social life), missions, and evangelism, unless they have historical or research value.
- Bibliographies
- Textbooks: Books that are used as textbooks in Clemson classes will not be purchased solely for that reason, but use as a textbook will not exclude the purchase of a useful book.

E. Date of Publication:

Generally, current publications will be selected, with exceptions where appropriate.

F. Other General Considerations:

Because of the broad range of subjects that a student of Religion may find relevant, acquisition policy for materials covered by many information access policies may also be of interest.

III. Primary Subject Classifications, LC Call Numbers, and Collecting Levels

| Subject  | LC Class | Collecting Level |

IV. Access to Information Not On-Site

Pascal Delivers and Interlibrary Loan are the primary means of access to books and journals not owned or accessible by the Library. This service is available free to Clemson University students, faculty, and staff.

V. Selection Guides

- faculty and student requests and recommendations
- reference and instruction (answering student and faculty questions and preparing instruction sessions based on faculty assignments identifies gaps in the collection)
- review sources, e.g. Choice
- weekly approval slips from YBP (chosen based on the subject profile we have created) ensure notification of titles that fit the needs of the library's collection
- publishers' catalogs
- vendor's databases (GOBI)
- indexes, bibliographies, and series lists
- faculty teaching and research interests
- circulation activity

VI. Deselection (Weeding) Guidelines

Books may be weeded from the collection if they:

- are in such bad condition that they cannot be repaired (a replacement copy will be purchased if available for important titles)
- do not fit current collection guidelines (unless deemed to have historical research value)
- have little or no circulation activity (if not widely held in other South Carolina libraries, they may be sent to Remote Storage)
- are older editions with no circulation activity in the last fifteen years whose content is covered by newer books in the collection

VII. Evaluation, Assessment, and Planning Tools

- A. circulation statistics
- B. bibliographic and series lists
- C. Interlibrary Loan activity
